

Rosemary's birthday

Niveau B1

Fertigkeit: Leseverstehen

Ich kann in unterschiedlichen Texten das Wesentliche erfassen. Auch wenn ich nicht alles verstehe, kann ich die Bedeutung einzelner Wörter und Äußerungen aus dem Zusammenhang erschließen.

Deskriptor:

Ich kann private Briefe, Karten und E-Mails verstehen, in denen Gefühle, Wünsche und Erlebnisse beschrieben werden.

Beschreibung:

Die Schülerinnen und Schüler lesen die Sätze eines Briefes, die in der falschen Reihenfolge sind, und ordnen sie.

Organisationsform:

Freiarbeitsphasen

Zeitaufwand:

ca. 10 Minuten

Erfüllungsgrad:

Die Aufgabe gilt als erfüllt, wenn elf der vierzehn Sätze richtig angeordnet wurden.

Spiegelbild-Aufgabe:

Schreiben: Die Schülerinnen und Schüler benutzen die markierten linking words und schreiben einen Brief über ein ähnliches Erlebnis.

Material / Medien:

Arbeitsblatt

Lösungsblatt

Arbeitsblatt - Worksheet

Die folgenden Sätze stellen einen vollständigen Brief dar. Doch sind sie falsch angeordnet. Bringe sie in die richtige Reihenfolge. Die unterstrichenen Begriffe helfen dir dabei.

The following sentences form a complete letter, but they are in the wrong order. Put them in the right order. The expressions underlined will help you.

	Dear Dorothy,
a)	But when we started eating, the noise died down.
b)	As you may remember, it was Rosemary's birthday last Saturday , and she wanted to do something different .
c)	(You remember it, don't you? Just beside the old castle.)
d)	Well, nothing more to tell you just now; hope to see you at Christmas.
e)	I mean, life goes on as always, and nothing special seems to happen.
f)	Fortunately, there was a bright moon, so we were able to make our way there without much trouble.
g)	It was then that we suddenly became aware of the stillness of the night, and although it sounds odd to say so, the silence seemed even louder than the noise we had been making before.
h)	Thank you very much for your letter, which arrived this morning.
i)	All in all, it was an unforgettable experience - I'm sure Rosemary's picnic will be talked about for some time.
j)	It was really my turn to write, as you say , but I seem to have so little news these days.
k)	As you can imagine, there was a great deal of messing about when we got there - people shouting and chasing each other around, and so on.
I)	Last weekend was fun, though .
m)	Well, anyway, we all met at the Red Lion, had a few drinks there, and then went on down to the wood.
n)	Instead of the usual party at home she decided to have a midnight picnic in Glover Wood.
	Love, Jenny

Lösungsblatt Solutions

hjelbncmfkagid

	Dear Dorothy,
h)	Thank you very much for your letter, which arrived this morning.
j)	It was really my turn to write, as you say , but I seem to have so little news these days.
e)	I mean, life goes on as always, and nothing special seems to happen.
I)	Last weekend was fun, though .
b)	As you may remember, it was Rosemary's birthday last Saturday , and she wanted to do something different .
n)	Instead of the usual party at home she decided to have a midnight picnic in Glover Wood.
c)	(You remember it, don't you? Just beside the old castle.)
m)	Well, anyway, we all met at the Red Lion, had a few drinks there, and then went on down to the wood.
f)	Fortunately, there was a bright moon, so we were able to make our way there without much trouble.
k)	As you can imagine, there was a great deal of messing about when we got there - people shouting and chasing each other around, and so on.
a)	But when we started eating, the noise died down.
g)	It was then that we suddenly became aware of the stillness of the night, and although it sounds odd to say so, the silence seemed even louder than the noise we had been making before.
i)	All in all, it was an unforgettable experience – I'm sure Rosemary's picnic will be talked about for some time.
d)	Well, nothing more to tell you just now; hope to see you at Christmas.
	Love, Jenny